Headteacher's Notes

Dear parents/carers,

Today marks the end of our first full week back at school and we've wasted no time getting into full flow.

The week started with our Year 5 class' first swimming lesson of the year and we are looking forward to seeing them achieve their swimming certificates later in the term. On Wednesday, we completed our photographs for the year. The proofs of last week's look fantastic – we hope you agree.

Throughout the week, our teachers have been busy organising our trips for the year, including the many newly planned trips for 2019-2020. I am jealous that Year 4 will be the first class to experience the Clonter Theatre Opera and feel lucky that we secured the only remaining school place available this term and have been able to subsidise the trip. I can't wait to hear the children's feedback.

Please remember that our full range of awards will feature on the newsletter from next week once we begin our new celebration assembly format. If your child is one of the lucky few to have achieved an award already, you should receive a message inviting you to next week's assembly. We hope you can make it.

I hope this afternoon's 'parent/carer information sessions' were useful and provided a good opportunity to find out about your child's new class.

To end my newsletter this week, you may have noticed in our list of events that, next Friday, we will be supporting our first charity of the year – Jeans for Genes. For those of you who are unfamiliar with this charity, it is a very worthwhile organisation that raises money to support those with genetic disorders. In our Monday assembly, Miss Welding will discuss the charity in more detail and we invite all children, and adults, to donate £1 and wear their jeans on Friday.

Have a great weekend,

Mr Spruce
