Headteacher's Notes

Dear Parents and Carers,

Another glorious week of sunshine and blue skies. It's so refreshing to see how this impacts on positivity and I have enjoyed catching up with many parents and children on the way into school this week. The great weather means that children get to play out and have PE sessions outdoors which is a real bonus – long may it continue!

This week, our wonderful Year 6 children have been involved, along with all Year 6 children across the country, in national tests – what we call SATs tests. Over the course of the week, the children have completed six different papers. It started on Monday with the grammar test shortly followed by a tough spelling test. Tuesday was dominated by an hour-long reading test. Wednesday and Thursday were filled with all things maths – the children had an arithmetic paper followed by two reasoning papers.

The children have been amazing and have lived their WINGS values this week. We are always proud of our children and these tests only assess a small part of who they are. Today, the children are having a very well-earned chill day that involves no school uniform, Domino's pizza, and no test papers. Thank you to Mr Cox and the Year 6 team for all their hard work in making sure the children had a daily breakfast treat prior to papers and felt supported. Appreciation also to the wider school community who made sure that the school was quiet and orderly. Well done to our Year 6 children we are very proud of you all!

Next week, we will be sending out lots of dates and summer event details for your diaries. The last half term is always packed with events – we are a community school and we want families to join us in events like sports days and summer fayres as well as special events like graduation ceremonies – we will ensure that the information is with you next week. We will also upload this information to our Facebook page. Please find time to look at our Facebook page which chronicles life and learning in school.

Have a wonderful weekend everyone– whether you are singing along to Eurovision, cheering a team in the FA Cup Final or simply switching off and enjoying the sunshine, make the most of every minute. We look forward to welcoming everyone back into school on Monday for the last week of this half term.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs Tomkow
